Mrs. Hoover Christens the Navy's Big Dirigible Akron—President Forms Relief Plans for Next Winter.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, journeyed from Washington to Akron, Ohio, and there, graciously christened the world's largest dirigible, the Akron, which has been built for the United States navy. As the First Lady pronounced the name of the huge airship, the traditional ceremony of releasing a light of white pigeons was observed. Before the christening the monster was brought to life by the inflation of twelve of its cells with helium gas, enough to raise it about ten feet from its cradle. It was then that "winked" sideways forty feet and secured as in actual operation by sand ballast, so it was really aloft when Mrs. Hoover set free the homing pigeons to carry messages of the event to the various navy stations.

The visit of the Akron will take place in the latter part of August or early in September, under supervision of a board of inspection and survey. They will consist of five or six members of various duration, including one of forty-eight hours, to determine speed, fuel consumption, endurance, structural integrity of parts and other details of performance and handling.

If the trials prove satisfactory the Navy department will accept the Akron and have it flown to Lakehurst for commissioning and docking.

MORE trouble for the federal farm board developed during the week in the form of "civil war." It is now under fire from within its own ranks as the result of the fight between the farmers' National Grain corporation and the Farmers' Union Terminal association and the Farmers' Union of St. Paul, on the one hand, and the Northwest Grain association on the other.

Like others the Northwest Grain association protests that the government's helping hand is not being stretched out to all alike. Ten other co-operatives and farm organizations have supported a resolution to that effect.

The side the board has taken is that of the management of the Farmers' National. Chairman James C. Stone reiterated that the board would not finance competition among the northwest co-operatives, which was tantamount to saying that the Northwest Grain association must come into line or it will not have its loan renewed.

The Farmers' Union Terminal association contains many of the old Nationalist longue crowd. Among its active supporters has been Senator Gerald P. Nye, insurgent Republican of North Dakota.

While the row goes back to fundamental differences between the two groups, the more immediate cause of the crisis lies in the recent policy of the Farmers' National to take over the marketing activities of the twenty-five co-operatives composing its list of associate members.

The Farmers' Union Terminal association was the first co-operative in the Farmers' National and it now owns 80 per cent of the Farmers' National stock outstanding. According to the program of the central organization, it sold out its marketing facilities to the Farmers' National. The Northwest Grain association, however, refused to sell. Briefly, it gave as its reason that with the power exercised by the Farmers' Union Terminal association in the National and the close ties existing between the terminal association and the National management, it soon would be forced entirely

PRESIDENT HOOVER, in a long conference at his Virginia week-end camp with Secretary of Labor Donk, virtually completed his plans for the organization of government and charitable agencies to care for the unemployed and others in distress during the coming winter. Mr. Hoover is unchanged in his opposition to anything like a dole, or direct government assistance, and will continue to rely on organized charity. He is willing, however, that the army should be used as a distributing agency, as it is in the times of food disasters, and to communities where distress is acute there will be loans of army blankets and supplies. The Red Cross will be, as heretofore, the backbone of the relief organization.

Mr. Donk presented to the President a report from the recent survey of conditions throughout the country. Neither of them would make public the estimate of the number of people who would be out of work during the coming winter, but both admitted that it would be little different from last year.

However, it was learned that the President, as head of the Red Cross, has directed the Red Cross to start a new drive to raise funds for the winter. Machinery has already been set in motion. He also has issued the necessary instructions to the army to have concentrated at the various bases, most of which are located near the big industrial centers, all of the surplus property available should they be called upon to use it.

BY AN almost unanimous vote in a provincial plebiscite Catalonia gave its enthusiastic approval to a constitution which defines the liberties of the people and fixes the status of the province as autonomous within the Spanish republic. If this is not granted by the new government of Spain, the Catalonians seem willing to fight for it under the leadership of their elderly patriot, Col. Francisco Macia. The apparent danger of Catalonia lies in the fact that Macia and his followers have given commitments to the syndicalists who form the huge labor organization and who are already threatening a general strike if their demands, including higher wages for family men, are not granted. Macia promised his friends he would be able to get out of this difficulty when the time was ripe.

A. H. Wiggin, to Germany for a maximum of three months beyond August 5, the date it fell due. It was assumed this action would be limited by the other participants in the loan, the American Federal Reserve bank, the Bank of England and the Bank of France.

The governors set Saturday, August 8, as the date for the committee of (Continued on next page)

TWO CARS IN HEAD-ON COLLISION ON US 27

Five persons, all residents of Bellevue, Ohio, are being treated at Grayling Mercy Hospital for injuries received at 2:00 o'clock this morning in a head-on collision of a Ford sedan and an Essex sedan. The accident occurred on the curve on US-27 near where the Skingley gas station was formerly located. The injured are Mrs. Walter Patrick, age 43 of 131 Atwood Terrace, Bellevue, O., who is suffering from bad bruises and shock. Her two sons Russell, age 18 and Thomas age 9, have severe injuries to their faces, jaws badly lacerated and teeth knocked out. Charles Humphrey, age 62 years and father of Mrs. Patrick has injuries to his legs. Garnet Odgers, age 17 and a pal of Russell Patrick, who was driving at the time of the accident has had lacerations on his face. There were two cars in the Patrick party, all on their way to Calumet to visit relatives at a summer resort and the two boys, Russell Patrick and Garnet Odgers were taking turns driving.

Lloyd Sawyer, of Vanderbilt was the driver of the Essex and riding with him was Claude Severer of Wolverine. Both men received minor bruises and scratches.

The occupants of the Patrick car report they were driving about 35 miles an hour at the time of the crash and that the Essex was traveling on the wrong side of the road. The crash took place at two o'clock but it was between three and four o'clock before the injured people were gotten to Mercy Hospital.

Corwin's wrecker went after the cars this morning and they are in the rear of the garage, and from the looks of them it is a wonder the occupants of either car escaped with their lives.

Sawyer and Severer had their wounds dressed at the hospital and were dismissed. Little Thomas Patrick is reported as being in quite a serious condition.

FINISH MICH. AVE. PAVING SATURDAY

J. W. Pennycook of Cadillac and his crew are busy on the Michigan avenue pavement. It will be remembered that this highway was constructed last fall but proved to be a failure. Mr. Pennycook, the contractor, agreed that he would return this year and make it over. This he is doing at this time.

The old pit holes were filled and cemented and now a ten-ton roller is smoothing them over. This patchwork will be followed by three coats of dressing. It looks very much as though this would, when finished, be a highway to be proud of.

Michigan avenue is a fine residence street and deserves a good highway. Mr. Pennycook says the job will be finished by next Saturday.

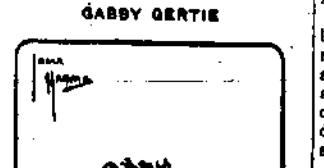

"Young Tommy" Opao

"Young Tommy" Fernando Opao, the new Filipino flyweight boxer whose sensational battles since his debut less than two years ago, have led his own countrymen to call him a successor to that other great Filipino boxer, the late Pancho Villa, world flyweight champion, has arrived in the United States. He came by way of the Hawaiian islands, where he stopped long enough to defeat all comers.

CHURCH VOTES REDUCED SALARY

Parishioners of Michigan Memorial church remained after service Sunday morning to discuss future financing of the church. Dr. H. H. Glass, Dist. Supt., was in charge of the meeting. Mr. Fred R. Welch, President of the board, stated that the entire sum for the present year, which ends in September, has been pledged and he was quite confident it would be paid but next year's budget was the problem. In view of present conditions it was voted to cut the pastor's salary to $1,800. The present salary being $2,000.

It was also suggested that one service on Sunday be held during the winter to save fuel and electricity. This will come up for decision later on.

There was a good representation of the church present and every effort will be made to keep the church and Sunday School up to standard.

ONLY TWO MORE SUNDAYS AT INTERLUDE

Only two more Sundays—only four more Sunday concerts at the magnificent Interlude Theatre. For those procrastinating individuals who plan to go "next time," precious opportunities are flying by and soon the 1931 season will be a pleasant memory. Plan to attend all the remaining concerts.

Next Sunday afternoon, Vladimir Bakaleinikoff, assistant conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and our own distinguished faculty member as well, will conduct the National High School Orchestra in the beautiful Brahms Symphony No. 4. In 1929 at the beginning of the camp's second summer, when the need for added stimulus was greatly felt, Mr. Bakaleinikoff joined the teaching staff, bringing not alone talent and charming personality but a brilliant record of achievement and recognition from his colorful career in Europe.

In the evening the National High School Band under the direction of their splendid leader, Austin Albert Harding, will give another of their extraordinary programs. The arrangement of "Victory" Smetana's exquisite tribute to a magnificent stream, the Moldau, of his native Bohemia, to be played in the first group is especially beautiful. The second part of the program will include the Von Weber "Concerto for Clarinet" played by a group of soloists selected from the band.

It is well to remember that this leaves but one other opportunity to make the Sunday trip to Interlude and it is hoped that many new friends as well as the many faithful friends of this and other seasons will come down the path to the famous Bowl and the last concerts of 1931.

WINTER SPORTS MEETING

It seems a little out of season to be talking Winter Sports, when temperatures vary and sometimes get to 94 degrees. But anyway a number of interested persons have called a meeting of those interested in Winter Sports to meet at the American Legion hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Right now however is the time to make plans and get them under way and then when the season comes the committees will be able to put things over with a bang. Grayling, the Capital City of Winter Sports has made a success each winter of this affair, but as yet some things have had to be done in a crude way owing to lack of finances.

So if you are interested in Winter Sports and we know most of us are, let's get out to the meeting tonight and give our opinions pro and con for it.

Don't forget the hour 7:30 o'clock. It is planned to organize a Winter Sports association at this time.

LIBRARY NOTES

Our librarian, Mrs. Elizabeth Foley, announces that during these hot days she is having many calls for light entertaining fiction. The library board have therefore made a special effort to meet this demand and a group of new carefully selected titles are now available.

Mrs. Foley recommends a visit to the library, not only to enjoy drawing out a new book but to linger and enjoy both the newly decorated chairs and tables, and the recent magazines.

OVERCROWDING STATE PARKS

Overcrowding in many of Michigan's state parks has forced the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation to take steps to conserve space along the bathing beaches, the camping grounds and the automobile parking places.

Camping privileges have been reduced from two weeks to seven days in the parks in six southern Michigan counties. Crowded conditions made it necessary to give many people a chance to use the camping grounds as possible. The seven days limit exists in the parks in Oakland, Livingston, Macomb, St. Clair, Ottawa and Bay counties.

The former limit of two weeks still remains in all other state parks in Michigan but it is expected that next year it may be necessary to extend the seven days limit to parks in other counties to give everyone an opportunity to utilize the parks for camping.

The parking problem at many of the parks is now becoming an important consideration. For all practical purposes each automobile must be allotted a space 16 by 10 feet. At the Bay City State Park, for instance, as many as 12,000 automobiles have been parked within the grounds in one day. These automobiles utilized 35 acres of land. On the western side of the state many parks have had the same experience. Just the direction of the traffic involves considerable labor. Often it is necessary to ask the assistance of the state police.

With a constant growth in the number of visitors the finding of sufficient space to accommodate everyone is perhaps the biggest problem facing the Parks Division. Even many of the bathing beaches have become so overcrowded that it has been necessary to purchase additional water frontage.

Theme: The Modern Machine—Master or Servant?

The Meaning of the Cross.
"A highly intelligent man told me how he saw the cross and was redeemed. He had a beautiful, intelligent and innocent-minded wife. He was true to her until he went to Europe, but there he took his first misstep. He continued the secret unfaithfulness after he came back. He told her the whole shameful story. He said, 'I can never forget the look of anguish that came over her face as she saw the meaning of what I had done dawned upon her. She turned pale and clutched at the pain in her heart, she sank upon the bed. I could see my sin torturing her. Then she arose and I expected the storm to break on me, but instead she said, 'I love you still, and I will not leave you.' Then I saw in the anguish love of my wife the meaning of the cross. I was a redeemed man from that hour.' And his subsequent life has shown it."—Stanley Jones.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1931

A CERTAIN man was heard to remark that he was giving part time employment to two men which earned for them about $1.25 each per day. They worked a few days and quit, saying that they were getting more than that from the county for their families, without working, and that if they worked this county would stop. If this report is true the man should be exposed and payments from the poor fund stopped. Any self-respecting individual would much prefer to give something in return for what he receives than to receive charity. There are no doubt many cases where there is sickness on the part of the bread winner or reasons beyond his control preventing him from earning a living, which is excusable. But in cases where there are able bodied men in the family, they should be required to work for their support. An honorable man would rather work for what he gets, and there are plenty of ways in which to do so. For instance, the roadways are high with weeds in many places that could be cut down and the places cleaned up. This is only one suggestion and no doubt there are many more good ideas that could be carried out. We like the motto of the "City of the Future" for none; a job for every man. That city pays out a lot of money to care for needy families but where there is an able bodied man in the family, he must give some service in return. It costs the taxpayers of Crawford County a lot of money to care for indigent families. We have ever sympathy for such but we don't believe one should waste sympathy on the fellow who won't try to help himself. If the county poor commission or anyone in authority wishes to know the names of the men above referred to, we will be glad to give the information. The report should then be investigated to ascertain its merits.

WHILE the pulse of moral-minded Americans have beaten out of time with the principles of officialdom of Reno, still apparently little concern is being manifest. It is refreshing to read in the San Marino (Calif.) Tribune the following editorial entitled "The City That Has Lost Its Soul." It reads as follows:

People there are who envy Reno, the city which thrives (financially) on broken homes and hearts.

They overlook the potent truth that "a good name is more to be desired than great riches." Reno has sold its good name for riches, and thereby gained ignominy and contempt from those who have not parted with conscience and reverence for the old fashioned virtues.

MICHIGAN AFFAIRS

BY A. H. GANSSER

Michigan's Midsummer Advantages

Lifelong residents of Michigan have always lauded their happy home situation. And those who traveled most and farthest, were always the first to express appreciation of this rich region of lakes and streams; of woods and farms; of crowded industrial communities and far off primeval regions. After seeing the historic places of Europe, Asia and Africa, they become enthusiastic founders of our new popular slogan: "See America First." Take the historic lore out of these foreign travels, and see our own fortunate continent loom. The Alps have much tourist attraction. But our own Rockies can be made even more alluring for the summer vacationist. The Rhine has nothing on our own Hudson, and a thousand similar streams. The ancient cities of the Old World can show much poverty and decay. Once seen, our own dynamic cities, all developed within the last 100 years, offer much more modern education and timely diversion. To have gone to Norway may be very exclusively satisfying. But one can see more at Mackinac and the far reaches of Lake Superior and Isle Royale, in a week, than one may find over there in a month. An inferiority complex may have had something to do with the old rush for foreign countries, at all seasons. Certainly much of that migration was America's loss and the Old Country's gain. Some of it was due to ingenious advertising and shrewd business appeal for American tourists. Little by little, American business men, communities and states, have mastered this fine art of winning the favors of Americans, vacation bent. Michigan has many special and unrivaled attractions for summer vacationists, but until very recently, has done little to capitalize them.

More Jobs in Life

This very year some of Michigan's best known communities are celebrating their 100th anniversary. And most of them are commemorating the coming of their first pioneer, the erection of their first log cabin, in a wilderness of forest, peopled only by Indians. Indicating how short has been our existence as a sovereign state. Then came the long years of heartbreaking toil, to win producing farms from these primeval forests. Our sister states had similar pioneer tasks and problems. They lived from day to day and from hand to mouth. The very money that built our railroads, waterways and high roads, came from Europe. To wipe out those international debts, our pioneer Americans had to toil from early morning until late at night, even in our factories. The pay was small. So there was neither time or money for leisure and the finer things of life. But these very sacrifices of America's pioneers, laid the foundation for the wealth and leisure that is ours today. Little by little, American genius, often driven on by sheer necessity, invented machinery and methods for lightening the burdens of our American farmers and workmen. Little by little the log cabin gave way to modest farm homes and the little red school house. With more leisure came more education and enlightenment.

The privileges that once were the heritage of only the favored few, are today the everyday delight of the average American. Business depressions of fifty years ago, were usually due to adverse weather conditions, and the failure of farm crops. The historic lean years of Egypt of old, were repeated here in America. But right now we have an era of over-production and under-consumption. We have mastered yellow fever in the southland, and abolished the "boll-weevil" that ruined our cotton crops. We the drain our modern farms, and so defy an unusually wet season. Modern water supply defies an unusually dry season.

Leisure Time For All

Today we have fewer farms, and yet produce more food. We have learned how to get more out of every acre of farm land, year after year. Some years ago, college experts were busy figuring how soon this world would be overworked with people, at the rate of population increase, and there would not be food enough for all. Today we are confronted with the problem of finding people to eat our surplus wheat, corn, meat, sugar, and the like, and to find a market for our cotton and surplus tobacco. And all this abundance is a time when there are hundreds of millions of people in Europe and Asia, actually suffering for want of food. But this is a problem for our international bankers and business men to solve. Politicians of the old school will never solve it, along political lines. For it is the tremendously new and acute problem, involving the distribution of the earth's products and wealth, so that it will bring happiness and prosperity to the greater number. Here in America we need first of all to remember, that 90% of all our business is home business. Only 10% is export business. That being so, it is imperative that we get our own industrial and agricultural house in order. Even in these days of international business depression and readjustment, American exported goods worth $200,000,000 more than we imported. That is less than our balance of trade with the world, three years ago. But it is clearly very much in our favor. Then why all this business gloom, in the richest and happiest country in all the world? One need but visit Michigan's state parks, and motor about our lakeboard shores in this mid-summer season, to realize that hundreds of thousands of Americans are giving their own answer. The bonanza days of easy money may be

The Log Office Says

Interesting bits of news and comment about Northwestern Michigan gathered by the E. M. T. A.

The tourist and resort business in East Michigan is passing through its best years. An analysis of the varied reports received from different parts of the section goes to show that hotels and cottages generally are enjoying a 25 per cent increase this season. This conclusion is substantiated by a recent check at E. M. T. that showed that this far this year the association has received 25 per cent more inquiries than last year.

Although no definite claim can be made, the inquiries received seem to indicate that a better class of people constitute a large portion of the vacationists in East Michigan this summer.

The association's observations are backed up further by a report from the Parks Division of the Conservation Department that all state parks are breaking attendance records.

The increase in tourist business is just one more proof that it pays to advertise, and is just another indication that Michigan possesses at least one "depression proof industry"—the tourist and resort industry.

As every picture tells a story, this little picture points the moral that

BEAVER TRAPPERS

When a nuisance beaver trapper goes out in the morning to discover his luck for the previous night he may expect to find anything in the live traps from a beaver to a porcupine, mallard duck or a turtle.

Trappers are employed by the Conservation Department to take care of "nuisance beaver" complaints. Beaver are captured by means of live traps and are taken from the place where they are doing damage to where they are desired. These live traps are set in shallow water above breaks in the dams or in channels which the beaver are known to frequent. The trigger is placed under water so well as the rest of the trap and when the trap is sprung the jaws are released since advertising has brought and is bringing dollars and cents into Michigan the one thing to do to bring more money into the state is to KEEP ON ADVERTISING ITS ADVANTAGES.

This year's Water Carnival is history in the minds of Michiganans, but the publicity it garnered for Michigan in advance, through its progress and after its close, through the means of the radio, newspapers and magazines has resulted in many requests into E. Those asking for general information are forwarded Guides and Blue Books while those seeking specific information have their questions answered definitely in personal letters.

It is the publicity obtained from affairs like the carnival together with the constant follow-up by E. M. T. that helps materially to make Michigan truly "The Playground of the Nation."

Hold your breath! Within the next few weeks something is liable to happen that will put northern Michigan into the minds of people throughout the United States.

and come out of the water so as to completely enclose the beaver in the large wire mesh basket.

The other day one trapper found eight blue winged teal in one of his traps. At other times they have found turtles, suckers, pike, trout and ducks held by the traps. Muskrats are often caught.

Sometimes without being caught themselves the beavers will spring a trap by sticks they are floating down to repair the dam. Frequently persons have idly tossed stones, sticks, cans, etc., at the trigger to see how the trap works and they seldom take the trouble to reset it. On a few occasions several traps have been deliberately sprung by some person and occasionally some one attempts to steal a trap.

Traps set on the dams are often found with the beaver dam built around it, the mesh of the wire having been filled with twigs and boughs.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS THE WORLD OVER

Inquiry into German credit needs to begin its work. The meeting was delayed until then to await the arrival of Albert Henry Wiggin, the American member. It was believed that Mr. Wiggin, who is chairman of the board of the Chase National bank of New York, would be selected as chairman of the committee. There are ten members in all, and their principal task will be to study the possibilities of converting a portion of Germany's short-term credits into long-term credits. There were indications that the committee would try to convert the committee into an investigational body.

New York bankers delegated to study the same question of German short-term credits were busy throughout the week with the technical details of the problem, but the prospects of reaching an agreement were said to be small.

Through Ambassador Sackett the suggestion was made to Berlin that Germany purchase large amounts of wheat and cotton now held by the federal farm board, and it was promised that long-term credits would be arranged. The administration in Washington thought this would both aid Germany and relieve the farm board, and the idea was well received in Berlin. Germany is especially eager to get American cotton and for this reason might also take the wheat, although unofficial reports said she had already contracted with Romania for wheat. She needs, in addition to her own production about 25,000,000 bushels of the grain.

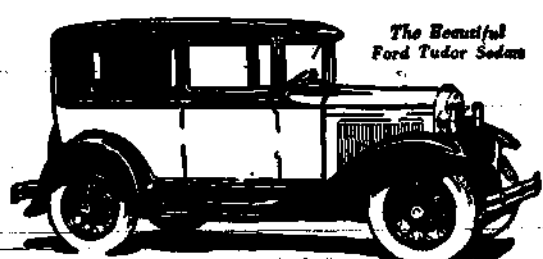

When it seemed such a deal might be put through, objections to the sale of the farm board's cotton to Germany came from the southern producers, Senator William J. Harris of Georgia said he had received a protest to the effect that such a sale would tend to depress the world price of cotton and that the policy of the farm board should be to hold its cotton and encourage purchases direct from the producers. There were indications, too, that some foreign countries would oppose the wheat and cotton proposal on the ground that it would be tantamount to dumping and would put Germany in an advantageous position over competitors.

IT WAS an eventful week in aviation. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh flew up beyond the Arctic circle with success and precision and rested at Akavik before proceeding to Point Barrow. Parker Cramer was found to be making an unannounced flight to Norway by the northern route, the news break ing when he landed at Angmagssalik, Greenland. He was attempting to blaze an air mail route to Copenhagen for the Trans-American Airlines. Herndon and Pangborn reached Tokio on their world circling flight, and planned to try for a nonstop trip from there to Seattle. Just before their arrival in the Japanese capital Amy Johnson, the English aviatrix, also landed there.

NOTES among the deaths of the week was that of Dr. R. B. Anthony, who for years represented the First Michigan district in congress. He was a very active and influential member of the lower house. Mr. Anthony was a nephew of Susan B. Anthony, the noted suffragist.

THE GREATEST VALUE EVER BUILT INTO A FORD CAR

(B. O. B. Detroit, plus freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra at low cost.)

WHEN you buy a Ford car today, you buy what is unquestionably the greatest value in the history of the Ford Motor Company. Never before has so much beauty, comfort, safety and performance been offered at such a low price.

The low price of the Ford is something to think about because it means an immediate saving of many dollars — always an important consideration. But far more significant than price alone is what you get for that price. When high quality is combined with low price, you may justly take pride in having found a most satisfactory purchase.

See the Ford — ride in it — learn something about the value that is built into every part. The more you know about it, the more certain you will be that it is the car for you. It is literally true that when you "get the facts you will get a Ford."

POTPOURRI

Origin of Tuning Fork
The tuning fork is the invention of John Shore, trompeter for George I of England. Its pitch varies according to its thickness and length of its two steel prongs. The usual instrument sounds only one note, middle C or the A below it, although the German model has a slide on each prong which regulates the pitch.

in Your bowels!

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels, cause that headachy, sluggish, bilious condition; coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The difference it will make in your feelings over night will prove its merit to you.

Dr. Caldwell studied constipation for forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need to make their bowels help themselves. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to people of all ages. Water Vapor in Gas

The bureau of standards says that usually both coal gas and water gas leave the manufacturing plant saturated with water vapor at the temperature of the outlet place of apparatus through which they have been passed. This may be a condenser or scrubber or it may be the gas holder. The amount of water vapor in the gas depends upon the temperature and not upon the character of the gas.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always a cause. As harmless as the recipe on the wrapper, and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the finest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.
